JUSTICE FILES ON MEXICAN GUN RUNNING

SENATE COMMITTEE INVESTIGATING DAUGHERTY WISHES INFORMATION

APPEALS TO PRESIDENT COOLIDGE TO COMPEL DAUGHERTY TO GIVE REPORTS

Congress Today
By United Press

Senate: Routine business. Teapot dome committee continues. Daugherty investigation continues. Internal revenue bureau investigation continues. Land fraud hearing continues. House: Army appropriation bill.

Washington, March 27.—President Coolidge today was requested formally to force his attorney general, Daugherty, to turn over to the senate committee investigating Daugherty the department of justice files on Mexican gun running in 1921.

This action was unanimously voted early today in an executive session. A flat refusal by Daugherty to furnish the documents on the ground that it was inimical to public interest, caused the committee to go "over his head" to the president.

MRS. STINSON BARRED FROM NAMING GROUP

Washington, March 27.—The senate Daugherty committee today refused to let Roxie Stinson name the five men she said yesterday made $33,000,000 in a Sinclair oil deal.

Daugherty's counsel intimated that the "name of a president of the United States was among them," and in a hot clash with Senator Wheeler demanded the right to go into the matter. Wheeler was adamant, although at one stage it looked as though he and former Senator Chamberlain might come to blows. Daugherty's lawyers were not permitted to open the question which the committee itself had decided not to look into because Daugherty was not involved.

Her cross-examining was relatively brief and unimportant and her story was not shaken by Paul Howland's questioning.

The committee before putting her on the stand asked President Coolidge to order Daugherty to turn over files relating to gun running to Mexico during the Cantu revolution in 1921, which Daugherty is withholding on the ground of public policy, and after Mrs. Stinson finished, questioned a department of justice file clerk to learn why he did not furnish daily reports as directed by the committee on data required in the inquiry.

Daugherty meanwhile canceled a trip to Florida, and gave out word that he would have an interesting statement during the afternoon.

LOVE BALM SUIT FOR $50,250 BEGUN BY GIRL

St. Paul, March 27.—Trial of the case of Lillian Schornack Rich, 27, against Robert J. Waters, 45, for $50,250 for alleged breach of promise went on trial before District Judge H. O. Hanft.

Lew Drill, attorney for Miss Rich, told the jury of how the defendant had promised to marry his client and had taken her from Seattle to Vancouver, B. C., and back again, and later brought her to Minneapolis.

Finally, Miss Rich learned that he was away on his honeymoon; that he had married another woman, Mr. Drill said.

For his failure to carry out his promise, Miss Rich asks $25,000 damages. Asserting that her mind and health have been greatly injured, Miss Rich asks an additional $25,250.

Through his attorney, Clayton Parks, Mr. Waters denies Miss Rich's allegations.

70 KILLED IN LAND SLIDE NEAR NAPLES

3 TOWNS, WHERE 50 DIED, WERE PARTLY WIPED OUT

SAILORS AND MARINES RUSHED TO THE RELIEF OF THE STRICKEN ZONE

(By United Press)
Naples, March 27.—Seventy persons were killed in a land slide in the Amalfi district of the Gulf of Salerno, yesterday, a check up on casualties showed today.

Three towns, Vettica, where fifty lives were lost, Praiano and Concomarina, were partly wiped out.

Sailors and marines have been rushed to the relief of the stricken area.

Two destroyers in the gulf played searchlights on the devastated region throughout the night. The government is taking action to relieve the sufferers.

Five were killed at Amalfi, ten at Concomarina and five at Praiano.

LATE REPORTS SAY 91 WERE KILLED

Amalfi, Italy, March 27.—Ninety-one persons were killed and lives of many tourists, including Americans, imperiled when a series of land slides devastated the villages on the Gulf of Salerno, it was officially announced today.

The first rescue parties to arrive during the night found the population of Amalfi, ordinarily crowded with tourists at this time, were camping out in the public square. Amalfi itself was little damaged, but the survivors described how one land slide after another threatened the town.

Nearby villages of Vettica and Concomarina had suffered severely, however.

More than fifty were killed in the former place which left scarcely a house undamaged by the tremendous slides of rock and earth.

Roads leading up the mountain-side from the square at Amalfi were blocked, and rescue workers climbed over piles of rock and broken trees to the Capucin hotel where many tourists, panic stricken but safe, were found.

The place was soon swarming with thousands who cleared the roads and repaired broken telephone and telegraph lines.

Refugees, some carrying bundles hastily snatched up from devastated homes, began to stream into Amalfi with the dawn. They told pitiful tales of death and destruction when an avalanche of mud, trees, rocks and debris struck and blocked one section of Vettica.

Throughout the night it poured rain, greatly hampering the work of the rescuers. The sun came out this morning and the work proceeded more rapidly. Many fishing boats were sunk when the land slides reached the sea but all fishermen of the district were reported to have escaped.

Premier Mussolini sent Under Secretary Sardi from Rome to ascertain the need of survivors.

AL JENNINGS TELLS A WEIRD STORY OF HAMON

CHARGES LATE JAKE HAMON PUT UP MILLION TO ELECT HARDING

IN EXCHANGE FOR SECRETARYSHIP OF THE INTERIOR

(By United Press)
Washington, March 27.—Al Jennings, ex-bandit and politician, charged before the senate oil committee today that the late Jake Hamon put up $1,000,000 to elect President Harding, in exchange for the secretaryship of the interior.

Jennings also charged that $250,000 was paid to the late Boise Penrose, republican senator from Pennsylvania in the same "deal."

Involved with Hamon, Jennings said, he believed were certain big oil men from Oklahoma, including Harry F. Sinclair.

Jennings said he got his information from Hamon himself. He and Hamon were intimate friends. Hamon told him long before the convention that Harding was to be nominated, and that he (Hamon) would be the biggest man in the United States.

The deal was finally concluded in a hotel room in Chicago the night before Harding was nominated, Jennings said.

He mentioned the name of Attorney General Daugherty as one of those present. Daugherty was pre-convention campaign manager for Harding.

Telling of events just prior to the Harding nomination, Jennings said: "In Hamon's room at the hotel, I lodged with him and we talked all night. He said he wanted me to come back and run for governor. He said he would get behind me and I would be elected. We took a few drinks. I asked him what was behind his mind. He said, 'I am going to be the biggest man in the United States.' He said something about $100,000 for a campaign for me. He mentioned Harry Sinclair and some other oil men."

"What else did he say?" "He said he had already been east and talked with Boise Penrose, and that he could name the next president of the United States."

"He said Harding would be the nominee of the convention. Money talks, and I am putting up the money," he said.

Jennings charged that Will Hays and Attorney General Daugherty each got $25,000 in the "deal."

Continuing his story, Jennings said: "Hamon told me Harding would be nominated the next day and it would cost him a million dollars. He said Penrose was to get $250,000. It had been agreed that day, Hamon told me, by Will Hays, Harry Daugherty and somebody else that Hamon was to be secretary of the interior."

"Has the information Hamon gave you come true?" Jennings was asked. "Pretty well."

"Did Hamon tell you what he was going to do as secretary?" Senator Dill asked.

"Yes, he said he was going to get all the oil lands the democrats had left."

"Who did Hamon give money to in connection with the convention?"

"He said he gave $25,000 to Daugherty, $25,000 to Will Hays and $25,000 to Penrose and $25,000 to a man named Manning or something like that from Ohio."

"Hamon believed that money would buy everything. He seemed pretty well founded in some instances."

"I liked Jake Hamon in spite of his lack of ideals. He was the only lawyer in Lawton, Oklahoma, who extended a helping hand to me when I came out of prison."

"Jake expected to be president of the United States some day."

PREMIER POINCARE MAY RESCIND HIS RESIGNATION

IS CONSIDERING SITUATION, WILL SOON MAKE STATEMENT TO MILLERAND

HAS BEEN URGED TO RE-FORM HIS CABINET AND RETURN

(By United Press)
Paris, March 27.—Raymond Poincare today busied himself with visits to friends and the chairmen of various government committees, preparatory to announcing his decision on whether he would resume the premier-ship.

On his way to Elysee to call upon President Millerand at noon, Poincare said:

"I am not yet ready to give a definite reply. I will resume my efforts this afternoon."

By those in intimate touch with the situation, it was believed a new Poincare cabinet would be instituted by evening. Poincare later resigning yesterday following his government's defeat in the chamber on a vote on pensions, found President Millerand strongly opposed to his resignation.

The premier agreed to consider retaining office and reforming his cabinet.

The franc continued strong despite the government crisis, opening at 18.44 to the dollar. Resolutions of confidence urging Poincare to withdraw his resignation was presented to the premier during the day.

POINCARE TO FORM A NEW CABINET

Paris, March 27.—Raymond Poincare today definitely accepted an invitation from President Millerand to form a new cabinet, it was announced in official circles here.

Poincare conferred with men who will be ministers in his reconstructed government, and visited Millerand late this afternoon informing the president that he would resume the office of premier.

Long Beach, Calif., March 27.—Maneuvers of the United States fleet in 1924-25 will be held off the coast of Southern California, in an area extending as far west as the Hawaiian Islands, according to tentative plans announced in local naval circles.

The plans call for the operation of the entire sea power of the nation, and the navy is reported to be anxious to put to a test the lessons in tactics learned this year in the Caribbean.

"run you for governor," Senator Bursum, New Mexico, asked.

"Democratic."

"Why did Hamon want you to run on the democratic ticket?"

"That didn't make much difference in Oklahoma."

"What did Hamon want you to run for governor for?" Bursum asked.

"He wanted me to disrupt the democratic party so he could carry the state for Harding. Well, I didn't go into the deal. Harding did carry the state. Hamon said that cost him a half million dollars."

AMID GORGEOUS SPLENDOR RECEIVE TWO RED HATS

ARCHBISHOPS HAYS AND MUNDELEIN MADE CARDINALS

CEREMONIALS TAKE PLACE AT ST. PETER'S IN ROME

(By United Press)
Rome, March 27.—Amid all the gorgeous splendor and pagantry of Roman Catholicism, Cardinals Hays and Mundelein today received from Pope Pius XI the red hats, which signify their elevation to the rank of princes of the church.

St. Peter's, where the ceremony was performed, was jammed with a tremendous throng, including hundreds of Americans privileged to watch their countrymen, who started together as poor boys on the lower east side of New York, receive the highest honors within the power of the pontiff to bestow.

Cardinal Mundelein received his red hat at 10:42, and Cardinal Hays his at 10:45 a. m.

The scene at St. Peter's equalled in brilliance and coloring the coronation of the present Pope two years ago. Members of the sacred college came to the Vatican wearing their traditional violet robes. These they exchanged in the San Sebastiano chapel for ermine capes before going to the holy trinity chapel to await the arrival of the pontiff.

Carried in state on the Sedia Gestatoria surrounded by the papal court, His Holiness entered St. Peter's directly from the Vatican.

There awaited him patriarchs, archbishops and bishops, Roman princes, heads of religious orders such as the Jesuits, Benedictines and Franciscans, scores of prelates and dignitaries entitled by their rank to attend and the Vatican diplomatic corps.

The new cardinals were dressed in their full regalia of office as princes of the church with the exception of the red hats. They wore red beretias conferred upon them by the Pope yesterday.

Cardinals Hays and Mundelein were escorted first to the Santa Pletro chapel. There in the presence of the sacred college the camerlingos and heads of the religious orders took the cardinals' oaths prior to the final ceremony.

It was only after receiving their hats from the hands of His Holiness that the new princes were in possession of the complete cardinal's regalia.

The concluding ceremony of the elevation of Hays and Mundelein to the cardinalate took place in St. Peter's in view of many thousands. Fifty thousand persons were crowded into the basilica, but many of these were not able to witness the actual ceremony or do more than catch a glimpse of the gorgeous procession as it passed.

Individual tribunes near the papal throne held members of the pope's family, the Roman nobility, the diplomatic corps, Knights of Malta and others entitled by centuries of tradition to private stands at Vatican functions.

It was the first time such a ceremony had been held at the Basilica.

From early dawn great masses of humanity—Easter tourist pilgrims from all parts of the United States, Italy, all nations—elbowed each other in the narrow streets, streamed toward St. Peter's.

His Holiness was assisted to the gorgeous red plush and gilded throne facing an elaborate enclosure that was arranged for the sacred college.

As soon as the Pope had descended from the Sedia Gestatoria and had mounted the throne, the sacred college escorted Hays and Mundelein from the chapel where they had taken the oath to the papal throne.

CLIFFORD C. HISTED ACQUIRES KANSAS CITY, MEXICO & ORIENT

BID $3,000,000 AT AUCTION HELD IN WICHITA, KANSAS

(By United Press)
Wichita, Kan., March 27.—Clifford C. Histed, of Kansas City, today purchased the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railroad for $3,000,000 at an auction ordered by federal court to pay indebtedness.

Histed is general attorney for the receiver of the road, William T. Kemper.

The $3,000,000 will likely pay the indebtedness of the concern to the holders of $7,500,000 of gold notes or $31,000,000 in bonds.

The purchaser announced the general plan of re-organization will be announced soon and all note holders would be invited to participate.

The only other bid was made by E. E. Mullany, a banker, who offered $2,746,000 for it.

ROOMING HOUSE MAN WHO TOOK TENANT'S CLOTHING VINDICATED

St. Paul, March 27.—George Claussen, keeper of a rooming house at 683 St. Peter st., has emerged victorious from a legal battle with Florence I. Breese, one of his roomers.

Three weeks ago the roomer neglected to pay her rent and so, while she slept, Claussen helped himself to all her clothes. Miss Breese telephoned a friend, who loaned enough clothing to warrant her appearing on the street. She took a trip to the county attorney's office and swore out a complaint, charging grand larceny.

The action was dismissed in municipal court on motion of the county attorney, who explained that Claussen, as an innkeeper, has a lien on the personal property of any roomer in arrears for rent.

MINNESOTA TO SUPPLY NAVY WITH BUTTER

(By United Press)
St. Paul, March 27.—Minnesota will supply the entire United States navy with butter for at least one year. The Minnesota Cooperative Creameries association was the low bid for the navy butter contract calling for nearly a half million pounds for the year, it was announced.

This is the first time the entire contract has gone to a single concern. The Minnesota association controls 360 creameries comprising one of the largest combines in the country.

The contract calls for butter of a very high quality and the price is approximately ten cents above the current New York market, it was announced.

MORE RETURNS ADD TO LEAD OVER COOLIDGE

S. D. PRESIDENTIAL PREFERENCE RACE IS A VERY CLOSE ONE

COOLIDGE HEADQUARTERS INDICATE CONTEST AND POSSIBLE RECOUNT

(By United Press)
Sioux Falls, S. D., March 27.—Hiram Johnson was assured the South Dakota delegation to the republican national convention today as additional returns continued to add to his lead over President Coolidge.

The presidential preference contest is so close, however, that Coolidge headquarters here unofficially indicated a contest, and intimated a recount of the vote will be asked.

With only 427 precincts yet to be heard from out of 1,825 in the state, Johnson had a lead of 544 over President Coolidge. The count was:

Johnson, 36,064.
Coolidge, 35,520.

Additional returns were expected to add to the Johnson lead, and he will probably finish about 1,500 to 2,000 ahead of the president.

Only scant figures are available on the democratic primary, headquarters having received but a few reports from the outlying precincts. What returns are available, however, indicate a strong McAdoo delegation will go to the New York convention in June.

Governor W. H. McMaster will have a majority of more than 11,000 over Senator Thomas Sterling for the nomination for United States senator, today's figures indicated.

Governor McMaster will run well ahead of Senator Johnson, his teammate in the primaries. Returns from 1,344 precincts gave McMaster 38,907 and Sterling 28,410.

HIRAM JOHNSON MAKES STATEMENT

St. Louis, Mo., March 27.—"If I win in South Dakota, it will be a marvelous demonstration of how the people of the west feel toward Mr. Coolidge and if ever an attempt was made to buy an election, it has been done in that state," Hiram Johnson of California declared today, as he stopped for an hour between trains.

Worn from the South Dakota campaign he made, Johnson was rushing to Illinois for a campaign in preparation for the state primaries April 8th.

"Hired orators of both sexes innumerable have been conducting a campaign in behalf of the president in South Dakota," he said.

"His chief defender was Leslie M. Shaw, former secretary of the treasury."

"Mr. Shaw spoke in favor of the president, apologizing for and even justifying the oil leases made to Sinclair and Doheny."

"When Mr. Shaw and other spokesmen for the president defend bribes as merely friendly acts, they make the nomination of Mr. Coolidge futile and his election impossible," Johnson said.

"In the fight in South Dakota there was the most reckless use of money and most shameful extravagance. Not only an army of hired orators but full page advertisements in every paper circularized without stint, unemployed politicians becoming more industrious at high salaries—there was no purchasable thing that was not bought at the outset of the fight."

BLACK HILLS ADDS MORE COOLIDGE VOTES

Sioux Falls, S. D., March 27.—The Black Hills came through with some more Coolidge votes today, and cut down Hiram Johnson's lead over the president considerably.

Prospect of a contest and a recount of the votes was stronger at noon.

There awaited him patriarchs, archbishops and bishops, Roman princes, heads of religious orders such as the Jesuits, Benedictines and Franciscans, scores of prelates and dignitaries entitled by their rank to attend and the Vatican diplomatic corps.

The new cardinals were dressed in their full regalia of office as princes of the church with the exception of the red hats. They wore red berettes conferred upon them by the Pope yesterday.

Cardinals Hayes and Mundelein were escorted first to the Santa Pietronilla chapel. There in the presence of the sacred college the camerlingos and heads of the religious orders took the cardinals' oaths prior to the final ceremony.

It was only after receiving their hats from the hands of His Holiness that the new princes were in possession of the complete cardinal's regalia.

The concluding ceremony of the elevation of Hayes and Mundelein to the cardinalate took place in St. Peter's in view of many thousands. Fifty thousand persons were crowded into the basilica, but many of these were not able to witness the actual ceremony or do more than catch a glimpse of the gorgeous procession as it passed.

Individual tribunes near the papal throne held members of the pope's family, the Roman nobility, the diplomatic corps, Knights of Malta and others entitled by centuries of tradition to private stands at Vatican functions.

It was the first time such a ceremony had been held at the Basilica.

From early dawn great masses of humanity—Easter tourist pilgrims from all parts of the United States, Italy, all nations—elbowed each other in the narrow streets, streamed toward St. Peter's.

His Holiness was assisted to the gorgeous red plush and gilded throne facing an elaborate enclosure that was arranged for the sacred college.

As soon as the Pope had descended from the Sedia Gestatoria and had mounted the throne, the sacred college escorted Hayes and Mundelein from the chapel where they had taken the oath to the papal throne.

KANSAS CITY MAN BUYS A RAILWAY SYSTEM

CLIFFORD C. HISTED ACQUIRES KANSAS CITY, MEXICO & ORIENT

BID $3,000,000 AT AUCTION HELD IN WICHITA, KANSAS

(By United Press)
Wichita, Kan., March 27.—Clifford C. Histed, of Kansas City, today purchased the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railroad for $3,000,000 at an auction ordered by federal court to pay indebtedness.

Histed is general attorney for the receiver of the road, William T. Kemper.

The $3,000,000 will likely pay the indebtedness of the concern to the government and leaves nothing for the holders of $7,500,000 of gold notes or $31,000,000 in bonds.

The purchaser announced the general plan of re-organization will be announced soon and all note holders would be invited to participate.

The only other bid was made by E. E. Mullany, a banker, who offered $2,746,000 for it.

ROOMING HOUSE MAN WHO TOOK TENANT'S CLOTHING VINDICATED

St. Paul, March 27.—George Clausen, keeper of a rooming house at 683 St. Peter st., has emerged victorious from a legal battle with Florence I. Breese, one of his roomers.

Three weeks ago the roomer neglected to pay her rent and so, while she slept, Clausen helped himself to all her clothes. Miss Breese telephoned a friend, who loaned enough clothing to warrant her appearing on the street. She took a trip to the county attorney's office and swore out a complaint, charging grand larceny.

The action was dismissed in municipal court on motion of the county attorney, who explained that Clausen, as an innkeeper, has a lien on the personal property of any roomer in arrears for rent.

MINNESOTA TO SUPPLY NAVY WITH BUTTER

(By United Press)
St. Paul, March 27.—Minnesota will supply the entire United States navy with butter for at least one year. The Minnesota Cooperative Creameries association was the low bid for the navy butter contract calling for nearly a half million pounds for the year, it was announced.

This is the first time the entire contract has gone to a single concern. The Minnesota association controls 360 creameries comprising one of the largest combines in the country.

The contract calls for butter of a very high quality and the price is approximately ten cents above the current New York market, it was announced.

MORE RETURNS ADD TO LEAD OVER COOLIDGE

S. D. PRESIDENTIAL PREFERENCE RACE IS A VERY CLOSE ONE

COOLIDGE HEADQUARTERS INDICATE CONTEST AND POSSIBLE RECOUNT

(By United Press)
Sioux Falls, S. D., March 27.—Hiram Johnson was assured the South Dakota delegation to the republican national convention today as additional returns continued to add to his lead over President Coolidge.

The presidential preference contest is so close, however, that Coolidge headquarters here unofficially indicated a contest, and intimated a recount of the vote will be asked.

With only 427 precincts yet to be heard from out of 1,825 in the state, Johnson had a lead of 544 over President Coolidge. The count was:

Johnson, 36,064.

Coolidge, 35,520.

Additional returns were expected to add to the Johnson lead, and he will probably finish about 1,500 to 2,000 ahead of the president.

Only scant figures are available on the democratic primary, headquarters having received but a few reports from the outlying precincts.

What returns are available, however, indicate a strong McAdoo delegation will go to the New York convention in June.

Governor W. H. McMaster will have a majority of more than 11,000 over Senator Thomas Sterling for the nomination for United States senator, today's figures indicated.

Governor McMaster will run well ahead of Senator Johnson, his teammate in the primaries. Returns from 1,344 precincts gave McMaster 38,907 and Sterling 28,410.

HIRAM JOHNSON MAKES STATEMENT

St. Louis, Mo., March 27.—"If I win in South Dakota, it will be a marvelous demonstration of how the people of the west feel toward Mr. Coolidge and if ever an attempt was made to buy an election, it has been done in that state," Hiram Johnson of California declared today, as he stopped for an hour between trains.

Worn from the South Dakota campaign he made, Johnson was rushing to Illinois for a campaign in preparation for the state primaries April 8th.

"Hired orators of both sexes innumerable have been conducting a campaign in behalf of the president in South Dakota," he said.

"His chief defender was Leslie M. Shaw, former secretary of the treasury."

"Mr. Shaw spoke in favor of the president, apologizing for and even justifying the oil leases made to Sinclair and Doheny."

"When Mr. Shaw and other spokesmen for the president defend bribes as merely friendly acts, they make the nomination of Mr. Coolidge futile and his election impossible," Johnson said.

"In the fight in South Dakota there was the most reckless use of money and most shameful extravagance. Not only an army of hired orators but full page advertisements in every paper circulated without stint, unemployed politicians becoming more industrious at high salaries—there was no purchasable thing that was not bought at the outset of the fight."

BLACK HILLS ADDS MORE COOLIDGE VOTES

Sioux Falls, S. D., March 27.—The Black Hills came through with some more Coolidge votes today, and cut down Hiram Johnson's lead over the president considerably.

Prospect of a contest and a recount of the votes was stronger at noon.

R. R. Wise Rebuilds Anna Block and Building Being Quickly Tenanted

In the early morning of Saturday, January 5, a fire destroyed a large portion of the Anna Block, at the corner of Front and Seventh streets, this city, rendering 10 families homeless, and stopping the business of five mercantile establishments, being the Brainerd Office Supply Co., Peterson Clothing Co., Gorham's Studio, Brainerd Billiard Parlor and A. D. Peterson, shoemaker.

In 30 days repairs had progressed so that the Office Supply Co., clothing store and shoe shop were again occupied, and today the entire first floor and nearly all the second floor where the apartments were located, is cleaned, repaired and redecorated and appears neat and clean, an inviting place for business or residence, as the case may be.

Mr. Wise is surely to be commended for his faith in this city and business enterprise which prompted such rapid work in restoring this property to usable condition, and removed what might otherwise have been an eyesore, for months to come.

Brainerd is the gateway to not only the Ten Thousand Lakes, but to vast opportunity in many lines, and progressive citizens are the making of this, as of any other community.

TIPS FOR EASTER GOWN MAKER

By HEDDA HOYT
Fashion Editor of The United Press
New York, N. Y., March 26.—This article is written for the woman who intends to make her own Easter frock and for those who depend upon the efforts of the home dressmaker, rather than the department store for their Easter "chic."

In the first place, let me say that dresses have never been so alluring and so inexpensive as they are this year in the ready-made departments of our shops. Unless one attempts to copy a very unusual and costly frock, it is foolish to try to compete with the ready-made garment of medium prices. I should therefore advise the home dressmaker to confine her attempts to copying costly imports or high-priced American models, which she could not otherwise afford.

I might also suggest that it is often disastrous to try to copy gowns of eccentric cut and unusual fabric unless one can find similar patterns in the shops and similar fabrics.

Chance to Save Money
In looking over the imports of several New York shops with the home dressmaker in view, I discovered numerous models which cost into the hundreds of dollars which could be reproduced at the cost of an inexpensive, ready-made frock. One particularly effective model, costing $250, was made of black triple crepe. It was designed on straight, bell-shaped lines, above the knees three scalloped bands of the material were placed one above the other to form the flounce effect. These were cut on the straight of the material and acted as a trimming, rather than a flare. They were lined in deep blue georgette and peccot about the scalloped edges. The neckline of this frock was rounding and there were no sleeves.

Attached at the top of the armhole a circular panel of self-material began in a narrow point and broadened out until it was about three-quarters of a yard wide at the bottom. This panel was cut V-shaped with the point of the V attached at the shoulder and its straight selvedge edge attached from shoulder to hem in a straight line at the back of the frock. Three blue georgette bands with wide-scalloped edges were applied onto this winged panel. As the arms were lifted the winged panel spread outwards giving a butterfly effect with its blue scalloped bands outlined on the black crepe.

This frock, though simple, is out of the ordinary run of spring models and would be lovely for the woman whose lines are a bit too mature to wear the beltless frock without a

Taking Care of the Man's Wardrobe

Some Hints on Making Clothing Money Go Further

Do men take as good care of their clothes as women do of theirs? No, generally it is the women's job to take care of the men folks' wardrobes or else the clothes are often sadly neglected. And even more important than sewing on weak buttons or torn pockets is the education of the average man on the art of taking care of clothes so as to gain in appearance and save money.

Of course there are many things which mere man is generally not expected to do—but there are many others which the woman of the house should insist that he learn. There are little ways that man has which detract from his appearance and wear out clothes no matter how careful his wife may be.

Take an insignificant thing like tobacco crumbs in a coat pocket. They have been responsible for more "moth-holes" than the moths themselves. The tobacco ferments and eats through the cloth—and the moths are blamed. Any woman with a smoker in the house can save many dollars by teaching him to clean out his pockets.

Moths do not attack clean clothes—they breed only in darkness and dust. Before clothes are put away they should be thoroughly brushed and cleaned and the place where they are to go should be aired and scrubbed. It is better to wrap clothes in newspaper sprinkled with moth preventive than to hang them for a long period, like the summer.

If, when a man goes to buy a suit, he takes along his favorite chair and chooses the coat to fit the back of the chair, then it is alright for him to hang the coat on the back of the chair afterwards—otherwise it is not. Chair backs are usually not shaped like human backs and the common habit of hanging a coat on the back of a chair for the night results in unsightly shoulders, wrinkles and bulging sleeves. Use only a properly shaped hanger.

The most valuable secret of clothes economy is to give the clothes a rest every once in a while. Even steel, if it is constantly used, loses its resistance—gets what is called "metal fatigue." Wool fibres are easily pressed out of shape and worn out by continuous use, whereas they recover their strength if left to rest. It is therefore important that a man have at least two suits for regular wear.

Two suits worn alternately will outwear three suits worn continuously until they are worn out, one after the other. This does not mean a "Sunday suit"—the day of the "Sunday suit" is past. It means that a man saves many dollars in clothes by having at least two everyday suits.

And, of course, no woman needs to be told about the economy of quality. The good fabric, the careful cutting and sewing, the fine trimmings—all these are cheapest in the long run.

For the sake of sanitation, men's clothes should be cleaned regularly—for the sake of neatness they should be pressed regularly. Very often big cleaning bills can be saved by a little first-aid at home when clothes are stained. Here is what the home economics department of the House of Kuppenheimer, which makes millions of dollars worth of men's quality clothes every year, has found to be the best methods of taking out stains. Any woman with a little skill and care can save money by following these hints:

Candy or Sugar.—Apply clean cold water.

Chewing Gum.—Use carbons and elbow grease.

Coffee, Tea and Fruit.—Dip in hot solution of soda—1 pound to a gallon of water—then in hot soapy water. Should this not remove stain, dip in ammonia and soda and hang in sun.

Grass Stains.—Rub with ammonia, wash in solution of soda—1 pound to the gallon of water. Solution should be hot.

Ink.—Soak the spot in strong salt water and rinse in strong solution of ammonia. Repeat if necessary.

Mud.—Soak in kerosene and rinse in hot water.

Nicotine.—Hot water and soap.

Oil and Grease Stains.—Place clean cloth or blotting paper beneath spot, rub with gasoline or benzine. Cover with Fuller's earth or powdered chalk and leave in sun for a few hours.

Paint.—Mix half ammonia with half turpentine. Shake well and dab on stain. Scrape off and remove spot with benzine. If not thoroughly removed, proceed as for oil and grease stains.

Perspiration.—Wash out in clean cold water and dab on ammonia. Dry in shade.

Rust.—Lemon juice and salt. Leave in sun to dry. Repeat if necessary. Rust may also be removed with oxalic acid—this should be used carefully as oftentimes it injures the fabric.

Scorch.—If not too severe, rinse in soapy water, dab on white vinegar and allow to dry in sun. Repeat if necessary.

Shoe Polish.—Use turpentine and remove with benzine or gasoline.

Tar.—Soften tar with glycerine. Scrape off well. Dab on benzine. Wash in soda water with ammonia. Another remedy is to soak in warm milk and salt.

ruffle terminating at the bottom. A narrow band of red chiffon attached at the shoulder hangs loose, forming a sleeve effect. A girdle of black crepe de chene lined in red chiffon ties in a huge bow at the side front. This girdle is placed low on the hips and is set on so loosely that it does not take away from the straight-line effect. This is a very youthful frock and can be easily made.

Another extremely beautiful gown on a more dressy order, is made of heavy brown satin. The bodice is tight-fitting and long-waisted, and has tiny puffed sleeves which extend just over the shoulders. The skirt is cut very full and circular and has deep scallops about the hem which are edged with a narrow band of brown-dyed ermine.

This is one of the loveliest frocks I have seen among the imports and would make an adorable afternoon frock for spring. Dyed rabbit fur or some of the inexpensive substitutes for summer ermine could be used to outline the scallops instead of real ermine.

Beige colored lace piced over a black foundation has a crushed girdle of black satin lined in burnt orange satin, which terminates in a two-tone pompadour at one side. Brown tan and beige laces are prevalent among the dressy imports and these are all very simply made with long-waisted bodices and slender skirts which flare in ruffled fashion at the hem, or used godets of pleated chiffon or lace to give fullness at the hem.

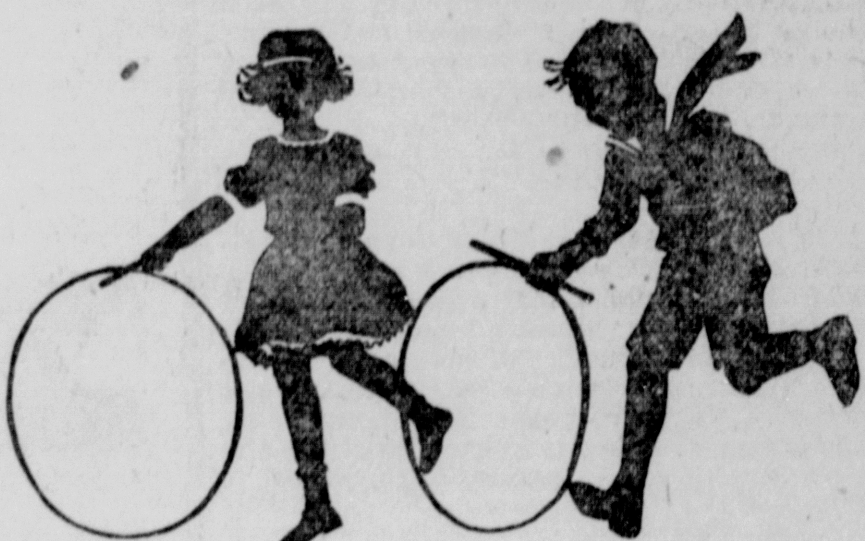

Where sleeves are used on lace frocks they are long and flaring. Black and brown foundations are somewhat smarter under light-toned laces than pastel or self-shades.

Beasts Is Right.
There is, here and there, a man who insists that he says what he thinks, and most folks rejoice that they are able to restrain themselves to time.

Nicotine.—Hot water and soap.

Oil and Grease Stains.—Place clean cloth or blotting paper beneath spot, rub with gasoline or benzine. Cover with Fuller's earth or powdered chalk and leave in sun for a few hours.

Paint.—Mix half ammonia with half turpentine. Shake well and dab on stain. Scrape off and remove spot with benzine. If not thoroughly removed, proceed as for oil and grease stains.

Perspiration.—Wash out in clean cold water and dab on ammonia. Dry in shade.

Rust.—Lemon juice and salt. Leave in sun to dry. Repeat if necessary. Rust may also be removed with oxalic acid—this should be used carefully as oftentimes it injures the fabric.

Scorch.—If not too severe, rinse in soapy water, dab on white vinegar and allow to dry in sun. Repeat if necessary.

Shoe Polish.—Use turpentine and remove with benzine or gasoline.

Tar.—Soften tar with glycerine. Scrape off well. Dab on benzine. Wash in soda water with ammonia. Another remedy is to soak in warm milk and salt.

flounce effect formed by five alternating rows of red and black chiffon ruffles. These ruffles are merely straight, double folds of the material shirred very full. The first ruffle is black and this overlaps a ruffle of red, then black, etc., with a black ruffle terminating at the bottom. A narrow band of red chiffon attached at the shoulder hangs loose, forming a sleeve effect. A girdle of black crepe de chene lined in red chiffon ties in a huge bow at the side front. This girdle is placed low on the hips and is set on so loosely that it does not take away from the straight-line effect. This is a very youthful frock and can be easily made.

Another extremely beautiful gown on a more dressy order, is made of heavy brown satin. The bodice is tight-fitting and long-waisted, and has tiny puffed sleeves which extend just over the shoulders. The skirt is cut very full and circular and has deep scallops about the hem which are edged with a narrow band of brown-dyed ermine.

This is one of the loveliest frocks I have seen among the imports and would make an adorable afternoon frock for spring. Dyed rabbit fur or some of the inexpensive substitutes for summer ermine could be used to outline the scallops instead of real ermine.

Beige colored lace posed over a black foundation has a crushed girdle of black satin lined in burnt orange satin, which terminates in a two-tone pom-pom at one side. Brown tan and beige laces are prevalent among the dressy imports and these are all very simply made with long-waisted bodices and slender skirts which flare in ruffled fashion at the hem, or used godets of pleated chiffon or lace to give fullness at the hem.

Where sleeves are used on lace frocks they are long and flaring. Black and brown foundations are somewhat smarter under light-toned laces than pastel or self-shades.

Basta Is Right.

FIRST RESORT TO ANNOUNCE OPENING

THE DISPATCH this morning acknowledged receipt of the first notice of the opening of a summer resort in the Brainerd lake region, that of Captain William H. Fawcett's Breezy Point Lodge on Big Pelican lake. The fourth annual opening is set for May 30th, closing September 30th. The beautiful nine-hole golf course opens July 4th.

A prospectus sent out carries a new map and the highway Brainerd, Merrifield to the lodge and other points on Big Pelican lake is given as much prominence on the Fawcett map as the Pequot road.

Captain Fawcett issues some remarkable and original publicity matter and in his introduction to his lodge, headed "Call of the North," he states: "The Ten Thousand Lakes of Northern Minnesota invite you to their cooling waters. Here you will find the vacationist's paradise of the great middle west. Breezy Point lodge, queen of the summer resorts of the sighing pines, extends a cordial welcome to the summer visitor."

TURKISH HAREMS

It seems that the movies have been overdoing the Turkish harems. In two years, says Maynard Barnes, American consul at Angora, Turkey, now visiting in Minneapolis, he saw but one harem.

They housed no beauties. The youngest lady registered 75 years old and looked it and all four wives were very fat. The harem idea is losing ground, because of the rising cost of household expenses. When a Turk marries, he also gains as visitors the wife's relations.

The harem episode has as much foundation in the movies as the sheik of the sand plains. In real life there, it is said, the sheik is a sort of hostler, far removed from all romance and more acquainted with sand fleas than sand fairies of European parentage breaking into the desert wastes and waiting to be saved by some native hero.

WANTED TO MAKE IT A RACE

BRITISH fliers, taking up the world flight after it had been inaugurated by the United States, started in an opposite direction and flung down the gauntlet to make the affair a race. The United States very wisely adhered to its original plans and kept its way, following the schedule set.

The American idea is to make the circle and being the first of its kind, a time limit does not enter into the question. It is aimed to show first the feasibility of the project. For any set of fliers to rush wildly into hitherto uncharted space and get into trouble, especially on the Pacific leg of the journey, does not show good sense. The American fliers and men in charge are to be commended for the common sense shown.

SINCLAIR'S STAND

HARRY F. SINCLAIR, of oil fame, has refused to answer questions put by the senate oil investigating committee and has been cited for contempt. Mr. Sinclair claims that with a case already in the courts, he need not answer the senate queries.

This has been according to the advice of his lawyer and to common sense people it appears that no man can be tried in two places at once on matters of the same issue. The appeal to the courts, as made by the government, seems to have lifted the Sinclair matters, so far as Mr. Sinclair is personally concerned, to the higher sphere of justice.

RELIGION SURVIVES

GOVERNMENTS may come and go, civilizations rise and decline, great individuals die and be forgotten, remarks the St. Paul Daily News. Nothing survives except religion—the belief in God and a hereafter.

The churches have "off periods" in attendance as the religious force temporarily burns low in the public. But architects announce that $200,000,000 will be spent this year in America on new church buildings. That's good news, mightily so, even though it's only a fraction of what will be spent on the movie theatres.

LUMBER AT REASONABLE PRICE

LUMBER is now at a most reasonable price and any man who wishes to build a new home or repair the old one should take advantage of the scale of prices now ruling. The first cost of any construction work is building material and that has happily been placed at a reasonable basis.

In consequence considerable building is planned in Brainerd and the lake region. Roads are improving daily and truck delivery of materials will soon be under way to the most distant points.

EARLY SEEDING

THE DISPATCH carried a news item, small in content but mighty important just the same, that seeding had started near Brainerd, the earliest ever known in this section. The sod continues frozen, but ground, it appears, is in fit shape for the necessary farm work. The year past has been a peculiar one in regard to weather conditions, moisture furnished, etc., and it kept the farmer, as well as the city man, guessing.

TEAPOT DOME AND ITS WITNESSES

TEAPOT DOME investigation bids fair to include in its research the whole United States. A recent witness called is F. W. Sarsden of Minneapolis, a former professor of geology at the University of Minnesota, who has no doubt been summoned to give expert testimony as a geologist. He is reported to be familiar with the oil fields in six states, but has no experience in the fields of Mexico or California.

D. F. LYONS, general solicitor of the Northern Pacific railway, using our friend WLAG as a medium, spoke on the proposed consolidation of railways and said the plan of consolidating the Northern Pacific, Great Northern and Burlington roads seems to meet with some approval in the northwest.

although neither side would make a statement.

With 1,459 precincts counted, the vote at noon stood:

Johnson 36,585 and Coolidge 35,287. This gave the Californian a lead of 298.

Earlier in the day Johnson had a lead of 544.

There are still 356 precincts to be heard from, all of them small. Coolidge headquarters claimed the president still had a lead of 965 with only four counties incomplete.

COOLIDGE NOW CLAIMS MAJORITY OVER JOHNSON

Sioux Falls, March 27.—In a statement issued at the headquarters of President Coolidge at Pierre, S. D., it was said:

"With 76,921 votes cast and returns practically complete from every county, Coolidge has a majority of 1,134 over Johnson."

Coolidge headquarters had made an independent unofficial canvass of returns.

SCHOOL OFFICIALS TELL OF THEIR WORK AT ROTARY GATHERING

St. Paul, March 27.—Representatives of the St. Paul department of education were speakers at a Rotary club luncheon at the St. Paul hotel.

The speakers outlined the work being done in St. Paul public schools through the various divisions of the department of education, including the divisions of research, attendance and manual training.

The school building program, though being carried out as rapidly as possible, is barely keeping up with the requirements necessitated by increased attendance, S. O. Hartwell, superintendent of schools, said.

$10,500 DAMAGE SUIT SETTLED FOR $3 CASH

Minneapolis, March 27.—George Washington, 90, well-known south Minneapolis colored man, was happily sporting three brand-new $1 bills today—his settlement of a $10,500 damage suit.

He had asked that amount from C. E. Peterson, Minneapolis, whose automobile was alleged to have hit Mr. Washington Jan. 28 on Washington ave. The case was scheduled for trial March 31.

Attorneys filed notice today of settlement on the case. It was found that Mr. Washington obtained $6, which was split 50-50 with his attorney.

His injuries, according to the complaint, had included concussion of the brain.

THAW SEEKS HIS FREEDOM AFTER SEVEN YEARS

APPLICATION TO BE HEARD IN CITY OF PHILADELPHIA
SOON

REVIVES SENSATIONAL KILLING OF GENERATION—CLAIMS
SANITY RESTORED

(By United Press)

Philadelphia, March 26.—If Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, secures his liberty as the result of proceedings instituted in this city, where Thaw is confined, it will be a triumph of mother love. The hearing is set for April 10, here.

Thaw, since 1917, has been an inmate of the Pennsylvania Hospital for Mental and Nervous Diseases, known popularly as "Kirkbrides." It is a private institution and a branch of the Pennsylvania Hospital of this city. It receives state aid and is authorized to take state patients by commitment, where private funds are available for care and maintenance. This commitment is not due to the Stanford White murder, but to the offense of Thaw against Frederick Gump, Jr., of Kansas City, then a boy, in a New York hotel.

Thaw claims, or his mother, Mrs. Mary Thaw, claims for him, through Thaw's attorney, Judge John M. Patterson of Philadelphia, that Thaw's seven years' treatment in the Philadelphia asylum has restored him to sanity and that he can now be released without menace to public safety.

When it was first announced by Judge Patterson that the release of Thaw would be sought, Mrs. Thaw was quoted in the newspapers as being against a hearing of the case. Later, however, when the actual filing was made of the petition, Mrs. Thaw stated that she had opposed prosecution of her son's appeal for liberty, until the civil suit of Gump had been disposed of. The Thaw family appear confident that with the Gump case settled, insofar as the financial end is concerned, there will be no danger of a prosecution in the New York courts. Gump is said to be in San Francisco and out of reach of the New York courts if he declines to come east, as he is expected to. Mrs. Thaw, the mother, in Pittsburgh, stated that $25,000 had been paid in full settlement of the Gump civil claim.

May Seek Thaw

However, District Attorney J. H. Banton of New York has declared that if Thaw is declared sane by a Philadelphia jury, New York county would proceed to press the indictment charging him with assault on Gump. The indictment was returned Jan. 11, 1917, but Thaw's commitment to the Pennsylvania Hospital prevented his trial.

"If Thaw is declared sane and is released, we will proceed as with any other indictment," said Banton. "The offense charged is an extraditable one. I can take no notice of the reported settlement of the civil suit, my duty being to press prosecution of the indictment."

"However, if the Gump case has been settled to the financial satisfaction of the Gump family, it is not believed that Thaw can be convicted in New York City."

In previous hearings, Evelyn Nesbitt Thaw opposed release of her former husband on the ground that herself and her son would be in danger of their lives if he was set at liberty. Owing to the change in the circumstances of the heroine-victim of the famous killing, it is questionable whether she will again appear or, if she does, whether her plea will receive much credence.

Cost $1,500,000

It has been estimated that the Thaw case has cost, in legitimate court, attorney and other fees, over $1,500,000, of which approximately $500,000 has fallen on the public and $1,000,000 on Thaw's personal and family fortune.

Thaw, up to the time of his confinement in the Philadelphia asylum, had spent the bulk of his own fortune to gain freedom during 10 years of almost ceaseless legal struggle. Since his confinement, however, his estate, conserved by his mother's attorneys, is said to have reached a value of $1,000,000. His aged mother has spent the family fortune like water to free the son from his numerous escapades, and at an advanced age, is still devoted to his cause.

Thaw, of recent years, has been allowed to go to Pittsburgh with considerable frequency to visit Mrs. Mary Thaw, the mother. He is now 54, is slightly grayed and stooped, but is said to have regained largely his physical health while in confinement. When the application was filed for his release he was "on vacation" from the asylum with his mother at Pittsburgh. His attorney stated, without confirmation from his mother, that in case of his release from the asylum he would take a trip around the world.

Thaw was born in Pittsburgh in 1870, being one of seven children of Mr. and Mrs. William Thaw. His early life was much the same as that of ordinary boys. When aged 16 he attended school at Wooster, O., and at the age of 21, went to Harvard, remaining there about a year. Later he entered Princeton, where he remained about three years. After leaving school, Thaw devoted most of his time to seeing the world and doing things that kept him in the limelight most of the time.

In his will, Thaw's father had left him an allowance of $2,400 yearly. To this the mother added $80,000, which enabled the young millionaire to live the high life that most appealed to him, and which eventually led to the killing of Stanford White. It was while between the ages of 21 and 34 that Thaw began giving the world things to talk about, and for several years there was hardly a day that his name did not appear in the newspapers of this and other countries.

Startled Paris

He made several trips to Europe, where he startled Paris and other cities with his parties and other escapades. It was in Paris that he gave a dinner to more than 100 of the most beautiful actresses of the French capital, said to have cost him more than $50,000. At that time he was 28.

The dinner was served in one of the fashionable restaurants on the Champs Elysees. During the gaiety of the evening he showered costly gifts upon the actresses. One, an American, receiving an American flag worked in with pearls, garnets and sapphires on a brooch. It was in 1898.

After a year in the States, Thaw returned to Paris and entertained Prince Komatsu, brother of the Mikado of Japan. The entertainment lasted three days, during which time the Moulin Rouge, where it was held, was practically Thaw's. This is said to have cost another $50,000.

In March, 1901, the Countess Louise de Mortane, a dashing young widow, with whom Thaw had associated considerably, announced that she was having a submarine built, intending to spend the remainder of her life in it. She attributed this action to the fact that Thaw had refused to marry her.

Thaw at Washington

Returning from one of his trips in 1901, Thaw rented the Don Cameron house in Lafayette Square, Washington, which adjoins the Belasco Theatre, and which was, for a time, the scene of lavish entertainments. A short time after renting the place his mother and sister, Alice, went to Washington. He invited his friend, the Earl of Yarmouth, to call, and a short time later the courtship of the earl and Alice was in full swing. Between that time and the date of the marriage Thaw and the earl quarreled when the earl refused to go to the altar until his allowance was doubled. When five years later, the earl and Lady Yarmouth were divorced, Thaw was reported to be highly pleased.

It was about 1901 that Thaw first met Evelyn Nesbitt, then hardly more than a child. She had been taken by her mother from her home in Pittsburgh, to Philadelphia, and later to New York, where she was pronounced by some of the greatest artists of that city as the most perfect model in America. For a time she posed, but before meeting Thaw, took to the stage and was a chorus girl in the "Floradora" company. In the chorus her beauty attracted much attention and soon along the rialto Evelyn Nesbitt was heralded as one of the discoveries of the season. But as an actress she fell short.

Met Stanford White

Meanwhile, she had met Stanford White. At length he persuaded her mother to allow him to send her daughter to school that she might attain a higher degree of efficiency on the stage. From then on, for a period of six years, White's attentions to the little model were constant.

White was married, old enough to be the girl's father, but this fact did not rob her of the pleasure of his company. He soon introduced her into his own social circles, as was vividly brought out later when she bared her life in an attempt to save Thaw from the electric chair. In his gorgeously furnished studio, high up in the tower of Madison Square Garden, he gave wine suppers in her honor that bewildered her. He posed her for pictures and then, according to her sworn statement in court, drugged her one night. White was one of the most famous architects in the United States and the Madison Square Garden, where he had apartments, was one of his masterpieces.

Met Harry Thaw

Not long afterward, while still a member of the "Floradora" company, Evelyn met Thaw. The Pittsburgher, with his allowance of more than $80,000 yearly, had been blazing his way through the bright spots in New York on a scale almost as extensive as he had entertained the fast set in Paris. The first night he saw her, he wrapped $50 bills about the stems of American Beauty roses and threw them at her feet. Later, at a chorus girls' dinner, the two became fast friends. Thaw pressed his suit and, in 1902, Evelyn broke with White. But that fall, White scored a beat on his rival by sending the girl to school.

In 1903, after recovering from an operation, Evelyn and her mother toured Europe. Thaw followed, and succeeded in getting the girl to leave her mother and tour the continent with him. While in Paris, Evelyn testified in court, Thaw mistreated her in a manner verging on cruelty.

Upon her return to the United States, Evelyn related her experiences to White, who retaliated by circulating stories attacking Thaw's character. Principal of these was that Thaw was a drug fiend. Notwithstanding this, Thaw and the girl were married in 1905. For a year after the marriage, Thaw had private detectives shadow White, believing the architect was trying to alienate the affections of his wife.

Thaw's mother had consented to the marriage, as had Evelyn's mother, and both attended the wedding. Mrs. Thaw took her new daughter-in-law into her home, introduced her to society, and had her schooled in foreign languages. Thaw settled down for a time, but returned to New York, more bitter than ever against White.

Killing of White

The final chapter of Harry Thaw's career as a prince of good times was at hand. On the night of June 25, 1906, he and his wife dined at the Cafe Martin, accompanied by Thomas McCaleb and Truston Beale. Mrs. Thaw saw White pass through the room and, asking for a pencil, wrote on a piece of paper and handed it to her husband. A short time later the party went to the roof garden, where they remained until 11 p. m. They had started to leave. When they had reached the elevator, Mrs. Thaw turned to speak with her husband, but found he was not with her. Looking back into the dining room she saw Thaw standing in front of the table at which White was seated.

Before she could speak Thaw raised a revolver and fired. The bullet struck the architect in the shoulder. White jumped from his seat, leaned forward and grasped Thaw's arm. Harry fired again, this time the bullet entering White's eye and penetrating the brain.

Then another shot, and Stanford White, the greatest of all American architects, lay dead on the floor of the building which made him famous. He died without a chance of defending himself, and without hearing the parting words of his assailant: "You have ruined my wife."

The nine-year legal battle was on. Immediately the vast Thaw fortune was brought together and the greatest of America's lawyers were retained to defend the slayer.

The first trial was started in the New York branch of the Criminal Court Jan. 21, 1907, and lasted 67 days. The events which followed made the case the most sensational ever heard in this country.

Evelyn Tells Story

Evelyn Nesbitt Thaw took the stand. In a desperate effort to save the man whose name she bore, she bared her life to the world. She told in detail the hideous story of the things she said she had suffered at the hands of Stanford White. She told of White's luxurious studio, its costly furnishings, its secret passages where White made play of his victims, and its plush swings where White swung many girls and women until their heels touched the ceiling.

And she told of a dinner, the feature of which was a huge pie which, when opened, revealed a nude young girl, a girl who later died in the gutter.

A year later the second trial was opened, which resulted in Thaw being committed to the asylum at Matteawan, the very thing he had fought against from the beginning.

Then followed a long fight to free him. A fortune was spent, but it yielded nothing but disappointment. It was said that a bribe of $25,000 was offered for his release, which might have been the ground-work for the sensational escape from the asylum Aug. 17, 1913.

Early that morning Thaw ran from the asylum grounds, dragged into a waiting automobile, which soon vanished. He reached Canada, but was arrested a short time later and returned to New Hampshire. And again thousands upon thousands of dollars were spent upon the greatest legal battle New England could remember.

The litigation dragged on for months. He remained in the New England state until the United States Supreme Court vacated a writ of habeas corpus granted in New Hampshire by District Judge Aldrich, Dec. 21, and Thaw was ordered back to New York.

Thaw Finally Freed

Jan. 24, 1915, found Thaw again back in the Tombs prison. March 13 of that year he was tried with four others on a conspiracy charge growing out of his escape from Matteawan. On this he was acquitted.

Then, June 23, came the trial which was to set him free. A jury passed on the Pittsburgher's sanity, and after deliberating until July 14, found him sane. The verdict was concurred in by Justice Hendrick the following day. The next day, under bail of $35,000, the slayer of Stanford White was a free man. He had been a prisoner nine years and twenty-one days.

Thaw arrived in Pittsburgh several days after his release by Justice Hendrick. It was the first visit to his boyhood home in nine years; yet he had little difficulty in adapting himself.

Then his name once again blazed forth in newspaper headlines. Thaw was indicted in New York, Jan. 9, 1917, on a charge of kidnapping Frank Gump, Jr., aged 19, of Kansas City. It was charged he enticed the boy from Long Beach, Cal., to New York, tied him to a bed, beat him and misused him, the date being given as Dec. 25, 1916.

Gump had escaped to his home in Kansas City, told his parents, and returned with them to New York, where they preferred the charges. And out of this indictment there grew additional and more startling disclosures, surpassing even testimony given at the several trials by Evelyn Nesbitt Thaw and other girls years before.

A nation-wide search was started for Thaw. Clues finally led detectives to a private home in Philadelphia, where Thaw was living. A large number, fearing Thaw might attempt to escape, surrounded the house, while several entered. They worked their way cautiously to the second floor. The door of the hunted man's room was thrown open.

Thaw, his throat and wrists slashed, lay on a bed, the blood trickling down the side of the bed and onto the floor.

Thaw Sent to Asylum

The next day, Thaw issued a long statement in which he denied he was guilty of the crime of which he was charged.

Thaw was held in Philadelphia, while officials of New York exerted every power they had to secure custody. The proceeding dragged on until May 9, when Governor Brumbaugh officially refused to turn the Pittsburgher over to the New York courts until such time as the Pennsylvania courts might see fit to release him.

lease him.

Four days later, March 13, a sanity commission investigated the conditions surrounding Thaw's latest escapade, and pronounced him insane. He was sent to the asylum, where for years he faded from the spotlight, until the order was secured, on March 14, to give him a rehearing on the grounds that he had regained his sanity.

"Price Class"

the mysterious stranger in the motor industry

Does a difference in price indicate a difference in quality? Why is one car priced 25% to 50% higher than another of the same quality? The 4 questions that a buyer should ask when considering any car.

HERE are facts based on world's engineering authority. If you have any intention of buying an automobile, you are urged to read them.

No "Price Class"

There are only two kinds of automobiles today. Economically produced cars which give you more for your money. And cars which are not, and give you less.

Price does not indicate intrinsic worth. But an individual maker's cost of production.

Hence two cars may show a price difference of $400 to $1,200 and more. And be of the same quality.

The difference in price simply shows that it cost one maker more to make this car than the other. Judging value on price, this is folly. Price class is a myth.

Where the Difference Comes in

Studebaker, producing 150,000 cars yearly, has reduced engineering cost to $3.33 per car.

This is based on a total engineering cost of $500,000 a year, which is the least on which any manufacturer can maintain an efficient engineering department.

Thus a manufacturer producing but 20,000 cars a year must add $25 per car for engineering, or eight times as much as Studebaker.

Other fixed overheads have been reduced proportionately. And these influence Studebaker prices.

A set of body dies costs $100,000. It will produce many thousand sets of body stampings, each one as perfect as though there were only a dozen made.

By building 50,000 bodies from a single set of dies, Studebaker reduces the die cost per body to only $2.00.

Why Studebaker excels the world in body building

For 72 years Studebaker has been a builder of quality vehicles.

This historical tradition has been inbred in generation after generation of coach-makers. And the Indiana city of South Bend is known as a world-Mecca of artisans of this craft.

In the modern $10,000,000 Studebaker body plants, there are sons and fathers and grandfathers working side by side. Their religion is fine coach building. And this is reflected in their work.

As fine body builders, Studebaker stands supreme. No other maker has the experience of Studebaker. No other the Studebaker traditions to inspire him.

Such a car is the Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car, at $1045. A clear difference of between $155 to $355.

The uneconomical manufacturer is not profiteering. He is unfortunately situated, that is all.

REVIVES SENSATIONAL KILLING

SANITY RESTORED

(By United Press)

Philadelphia, March 26.—If Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, secures his liberty as the result of proceedings instituted in this city, where Thaw is confined, it will be a triumph of mother love. The hearing is set for April 10, here.

Thaw, since 1917, has been an inmate of the Pennsylvania Hospital for Mental and Nervous Diseases, known popularly as "Kirkbrides." It is a private institution and a branch of the Pennsylvania Hospital of this city. It receives state aid and is authorized to take state patients by commitment, where private funds are available for care and maintenance. This commitment is not due to the Stanford White murder, but to the offense of Thaw against Frederick Gump, Jr., of Kansas City, then a boy, in a New York hotel.

Thaw claims, or his mother, Mrs. Mary Thaw, claims for him, through Thaw's attorney, Judge John M. Patterson of Philadelphia, that Thaw's seven years' treatment in the Philadelphia asylum has restored him to sanity and that he can now be released without menace to public safety.

When it was first announced by Judge Patterson that the release of Thaw would be sought, Mrs. Thaw was quoted in the newspapers as being against a hearing of the case. Later, however, when the actual filing was made of the petition, Mrs. Thaw stated that she had opposed prosecution of her son's appeal for liberty, until the civil suit of Gump had been disposed of. The Thaw family appear confident that with the Gump case settled, insofar as the financial end is concerned, there will be no danger of a prosecution in the New York courts. Gump is said to be in San Francisco and out of reach of the New York courts if he declines to come east, as he is expected to. Mrs. Thaw, the mother, in Pittsburgh, stated that $25,000 had been paid in full settlement of the Gump civil claim.

May Seek Thaw

However, District Attorney J. H. Banton of New York has declared that if Thaw is declared sane by a Philadelphia jury, New York county would proceed to press the indictment charging him with assault on Gump. The indictment was returned Jan. 11, 1917, but Thaw's commitment to the Pennsylvania Hospital prevented his trial.

"If Thaw is declared sane and is released, we will proceed as with any other indictment," said Banton. "The offense charged is an extraditable one. I can take no notice of the reported settlement of the civil suit, my duty being to press prosecution of the indictment."

"However, if the Gump case has been settled to the financial satisfaction of the Gump family, it is not believed that Thaw can be convicted in New York City."

In previous hearings, Evelyn Nesbitt Thaw opposed release of her former husband on the ground that herself and her son would be in danger of their lives if he was set at liberty. Owing to the change in the circumstances of the heroine-victim of the famous killing, it is questionable whether she will again appear or, if she does, whether her plea will receive much credence.

Cost $1,500,000

It has been estimated that the Thaw case has cost, in legitimate court, attorney and other fees, over $1,500,000, of which approximately $500,000 has fallen on the public and $1,000,000 on Thaw's personal and family fortune.

Thaw, up to the time of his confinement in the Philadelphia asylum, had spent the bulk of his own fortune to gain freedom during 10 years of almost ceaseless legal struggle. Since his confinement, however, his estate, conserved by his mother's attorneys, is said to have reached a value of $1,000,000. His aged mother has spent the family fortune like water to free the son from his numerous escapades, and at an advanced age, is still devoted to his cause.

Thaw, of recent years, has been allowed to go to Pittsburgh with considerable frequency to visit Mrs. Mary Thaw, the mother. He is now 54, is slightly grayed and stooped, but is said to have regained largely his physical health while in confinement. When the application was filed for his release he was "on vacation" from the asylum with his mother at Pittsburgh. His attorney stated, without confirmation from his mother, that in case of his release from the asylum he would take a trip around the world.

Thaw was born in Pittsburgh in 1870, being one of seven children of Mr. and Mrs. William Thaw. His early life was much the same as that of ordinary boys. When aged 16 he attended school at Wooster, O., and at the age of 21, went to Harvard, remaining there about a year. Later he entered Princeton, where he remained about three years. Killing of White

The final chapter of Harry Thaw's career as a prince of good times was at hand. On the night of June 25, 1906, he and his wife dined at the Cafe Martin, accompanied by Thomas McCaleb and Truett Beale. Mrs. Thaw saw White pass through the room and, asking for a pencil, wrote on a piece of paper and handed it to her husband. "Price Class"

the mysterious stranger in the motor industry

Does a difference in price indicate a difference in quality? Why is one car priced 25% to 50% higher than another of the same quality? The 4 questions that a buyer should ask when considering any car.

HERE are facts based on world's engineering authority. If you have any intention of buying an automobile, you are urged to read them.

No "Price Class"

There are only two kinds of automobiles today. Economically produced cars which give you more for your money. And cars which are not, and give you less.

Price does not indicate intrinsic worth. But an individual maker's cost of production.

Hence two cars may show a price difference of $400 to $1,200 and more. And be of the same quality.

The difference in price simply shows that it cost one maker more to make this car than the other. Judging value on price, this is folly. Price class is a myth.

Where the Difference Comes in

Studebaker, producing 150,000 cars yearly, has reduced engineering cost to $3.33 per car.

This is based on a total engineering cost of $500,000 a year, which is the least on which any manufacturer can maintain an efficient engineering department.

Thus a manufacturer producing but 20,000 cars a year must add $25 per car for engineering, or eight times as much as Studebaker. Other fixed overheads have been reduced proportionately. And these influence Studebaker prices.

A set of body dies costs $100,000. It will produce many thousand sets of body stampings, each one as perfect as though there were only a dozen made.

By building 50,000 bodies from a single set of dies, Studebaker reduces the die cost per body to only $2.00.

Coupe-Roadster (2-Pass.)			1395
Coupe (5-Pass.)			1485
Sedan

The average small manufacturer whose volume will enable him to build only 5,000 bodies from a set of dies in the same time in which Studebaker builds 50,000 has to charge each body $20 for die cost. The difference of $18 is in the price but not in the body. The customer pays it but he gets nothing tangible for it. It is one of the penalties of uneconomical manufacture.

Thus a car priced at $1,200 to $1,400 can be sold as low as $1045 when produced economically in quantity.

Why Studebaker excels the world in body building

For 72 years Studebaker has been a builder of quality vehicles.

This historical tradition has been inbred in generation after generation of coach-makers. And the Indiana city of South Bend is known as a world-Mecca of artisans of this craft.

In the modern $10,000,000 Studebaker body plants, there are sons and fathers and grandfathers working side by side. Their religion is fine coach building. And this is reflected in their work.

As fine body builders, Studebaker stands supreme. No other maker has the experience of Studebaker. No other the Studebaker traditions to inspire him.

Such a car is the Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car, at $1045. A clear difference of between $155 to $355.

The uneconomical manufacturer is not profiting. He is unfortunately situated, that is all.

Equalled Only by Costliest Foreign and American Makes

All Studebaker models are equipped with Timken bearings. There are few cars in America, regardless of price, which equal ours on this point. In our Light-Six, for instance, we put more Timken bearings than are used in any competitive car, within $1,500 of its price.

We subject Studebaker cars to 30,000 inspections. That requires 1,200 men. All told over 70,000 hand and machine operations are performed in the manufacture of a Studebaker car. In so many operations, though each one is small, there is great opportunity for economy and savings. 15% premium is paid on many steels to insure Studebaker specifications instead of "commercial run" used in cars many times Studebaker price.

No finer car can be built than the Studebaker of today. Only famous foreign cars and the most costly of American cars, compare.

See a Studebaker—Then Decide

Buy no car until you've seen a Studebaker. Go over it, point for point. Consult any unbiased expert. Ask your banker. And you will own a Studebaker.

Get an Answer to These 4 Questions Before Buying Any Car

1—Is this an assembled car? Or "partly" assembled. Insist on this answer. Assembled cars pay a profit to from 75 to 100 parts makers alone.

2—What sort of bearings? Studebakers are Timken-equipped. Everlasting smoothness and quiet performance result.

3—How many cars a year does this maker produce? Small productions mean either a higher price or cheaper car.

4—What sort of upholstery? Studebaker closed models are done in Chase Mohair, the finest material for this purpose known. Open models are upholstered in genuine leather.

PLEDGE 110 ACRES OF CUCUMBERS

For Heinz Pickle Station to be Located Soon in Brainerd

ROOM FOR MORE PLEDGES

Prices For Product Here Are Cash,
as High as Michigan,
Indiana, Etc.

(By E. G. Roth, County Agricultural Agent)

We now have 110 acres of cucumbers signed up for the Heinz Pickle station to be located at Brainerd. We can still take acreage up to 40 acres and no more and there is an opportunity for those who desire to raise pickles to sign a contract. The prices paid here are cash and are as high as the prices paid in southern Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, on the $250 and $300 acre land where farmers have to pay as high as $65 an acre for rent. The prices offered here are $3.00 per hundred pounds for cucumbers one inch to 3 1/4 inches long, $1.00 per hundred pounds for cucumbers 3 1/4 inches long to 5 1/2 inches long and $1.00 per hundred pounds for the crooks and nubs.

A great many people who have not had experience in cucumbers think that the work is too great to make it pay. This is not true as cultivation and the care of pickles up to picking time is not much more difficult than the taking care of corn or potatoes and three people can pick two acres of cucumbers during picking season easily and still have plenty of time for other work.

Returns that may be expected from the raising of cucumbers depend on the kind of soil you have, how you prepare your seed bed and how you take care of it and the amount of moisture. A rich sandy loam with a clay sub-soil which is either new land that has not been cropped more than one year or a clover sod. Second, a clay loam with a clay sub-soil which is either new land that has not been cropped more than one year or a clover sod. A good crop of pickles may be grown on light sandy soils or heavy loam soils which have been cropped for a number of years, but such soils usually require more preparation to produce a good crop. Four to six tons of well-rotted barnyard manure will help immensely.

Returns that may be expected vary from $75 per acre to $400 per acre. The seed is furnished free. It is absolutely necessary that you sign a contract to grow a seed acreage before you can sell through this station. Therefore, if you wish to plant cucumbers, see one of the following for a contract which costs you nothing: E. G. Roth, County Agent; W. M. Murphy, County Engineer; First National Bank; Citizens State Bank; Brainerd State Bank; Alderman-Maghan Co.; O'Brien Mercantile Co.; and Gruenhagen Co. When the 150 acres are reached, no more contracts will be received this year.

THIS DISEASE AIDS MAN

But It is the Kind That Kills Bugs and Flies and Can Be Help to Crops

In the Mississippi valley there is a disease known as "chinch-bug cholera." It is known in other parts of the country also, but perhaps not so well as there, says Nature Magazine of Washington. This is one of the diseases that benefits man, for it attacks only insects that are injurious to his crops. The disease is caused by a parasitic fungus, known scientifically as Sporotrichum globuliferum, and its host is the dreaded destroyer of corn and wheat, the chinch-bug.

It is of great interest and importance that this fungus may be cultivated artificially in the laboratory. It thrives on culture media of different kinds, and may be sent out to farmers in badly infected areas. The method followed is to distribute the

SULPHUR CLEARS UP ROUGH OR RED SKIN

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe the irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles' Mentho-Sulphur from any good drug-gist and use it like cold cream.—Advt bodies of infected insects in the fields, either dead or alive. The disease is then contracted by the healthy bugs and soon spreads over the infected locality, helping to exterminate the pest, if not eliminating it altogether.

Many kinds of insects are subject to these fungus attacks, but it appears to follow that they thrive well only in moist weather. The chinch-bug fungus is probably the only one that has been seriously experimented upon and turned to the use of man, but there is no doubt at all that others might be brought under control, and eventually become of enormous benefit to the human race.

Our common houseflies are subject to a fungus cholera due to the attack of the species Empusa muscae, which slays them in large numbers in the late summer. Swollen flies are often seen at this time of the year clinging to the walls of kitchens or other greatly frequented places. About the dead or dying insects will be seen a ring of white mould, due to the spores of the plant which have been ejected at maturity. One fly catches it from another, or from spores in the air, and the disease is really very beneficial as far as man is concerned, in reducing the number of flies.

To Date $2,130 Has Been Subscribed For Purchase of Pure Bred Sires

DISTRIBUTION AMONG FARMERS

Charles Donnelly, President of Northern Pacific Railway, May Come on Day of Distribution

The special committee on dairy sires, appointed by the Chamber of Commerce, reported at the regular meeting of that body on Wednesday night that $2,130 has been subscribed toward the purchase of pure-bred sires for free distribution among the farmers, and that it is felt that this amount can be greatly increased. S. R. Adair is the chairman of this committee.

A letter was read from Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific Railway, in answer to an invitation from Mayor Con O'Brien to be present at Brainerd on the day when the sires are to be distributed to the farmers of the county.

Mr. Donnelly stated that he would be very glad to be in attendance at this event, provided the date set for the distribution was toward the latter part of next month, since he will be in the West until that time.

County Agent E. G. Roth told of the new association formed among the farmers, the purpose of which is to apportion the dairy sires to the various neighborhoods, and provided for their care, etc. Mr. Roth showed that the farmers of the county are very much interested in this free distribution of the Chamber's, and appreciate the effort to improve the dairy herds of this section.

J. H. Krekelberg, chairman of the special committee on securing a state forest reserve for Crow Wing county, reported that he expects to have his committee view the proposed sites in the near future, after which he will have something definite to bring before the Chamber.

John A. Hoffbauer, chairman of the publicity and convention committee, presented a report, stating that his committee was working on the folder that the Chamber has ordered published for the purpose of advertising Brainerd and the lake region. He reported that photographs have been taken and special cuts are being made from them for use in this folder. It is to have a two-color front page, and copy is to be O. K'd by Carl Zapffe and other well known citizens.

A map containing information of special interest to summer visitors, is being prepared and will be printed on the inside pages of this folder, together with facts about the natural resources, opportunities, etc., to be found in the Brainerd territory.

Mr. Hoffbauer further reported in regard to conventions, that the United Commercial Travelers of Brainerd Council No. 545 expect to make a bid for the Grand Council convention of Minnesota and North Dakota this summer. This is an important convention, since it will bring to the city more than one thousand traveling men. The Grand Council allows $500 toward the financing of this convention, and the local council will expect the co-operation of the Chamber, both in getting the convention for Brainerd, and in putting it over successfully.

W. J. Hall, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, spoke on the "Buy Brainerd-Made Products" campaign, which is being staged. He stated that the good results of this campaign are already being felt in the bakery, cigar making and several other lines, and that his committee will continue in its work in the hope that much good will result.

George E. Lowe, chairman of the membership committee, reported on the matter of junior memberships for the Chamber, which have been discussed on several occasions. He said that it was the opinion of the committee that the place for the boys of the city was at the Y. M. C. A. instead of at the Chamber. He told of the improvements that have been made in the "Y" building and of the good work the new secretary, is doing.

Mr. Hoffbauer brought up the matter of sugar beet raising as a profitable crop for Crow Wing county farmers. This was followed by a general discussion of the subject. County Agent Roth stated that sugar beets can be grown in this territory, but that the industry is not profitable unless cheap labor can be obtained.

C. F. Cibuzar mentioned the experience of Mason City, Iowa, territory where the sugar beet farmers have made money and where a million dollar sugar beet factory was established without an appeal for local stock buying, bonus or any other encouragement except that farmers continue raising their beet sugar acreage. Special labor is required for the field work.

It was brought out in the discussion that the Meadowland district near Duluth had 200 acres in sugar beets last year and plans on 1,000 acres this year. When 5,000 acreage is attained one or more sugar factories will be established in that section. In 1923, 29 carloads of sugar beets were shipped from Meadowlands and Kelsey stations. It is estimated the sugar beet tops, which the farmer retains, are worth easily $5 an acre as feed for dairy cattle and poultry. Beet pulp is dried at the factory after the sugar is extracted and is sold to the beet growers at wholesale prices plus freight. This serves as dairy feed. Beet molasses is run into barrels and sold as feed also.

The sugar company contracts with the grower before the seed is sown, to buy the entire crop at a guaranteed price per ton, plus a bonus in amount depending on the increase of sugar prices. The yield of the crop has run at Meadowlands at the rate of some 7 to 15 tons to the acre. The price in 1923 was $6 per ton with a bonus of $2 per ton, making the total $8 per ton received by the farmer. The Meadowlands district is shipping its beets to the Chippewa Falls, Wis., factory. Beet workers, by contract work, were paid $23 per acre.

Mr. Krekelberg presented the proposition of putting out advertising stickers, as some other cities are now doing. He exhibited several samples of these stickers and thought that they could be used to good advantage, especially with the tourists. This matter was referred to the publicity committee.

V. L. Hitch reported that 115 acres have been secured among the farmers for cucumber raising, and that the quota of 150 acres will be signed up by April 15th, at which time the contracting company will begin the distribution of seed and instructions for planting, care of the crop, etc.

The special committees appointed on the new athletic park and to look into the proposition of a new hotel, were not prepared to report at Wednesday's meeting.

Five new members were received into the Chamber, Dr. H. J. Prendergast, Stanley Vanek, A. E. Niles, Charles Cibuzar and B. C. McNamara. On motion the rules were suspended and the secretary instructed to cast the unanimous vote of the meeting for their election.

TILDEN WILL QUIT TENNIS TO WRITE

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, March 27.—William T. Tilden, world's greatest tennis player, has made it clear that he will retire from the game next year, if he has to choose between playing and writing.

The United States Lawn Tennis association, which approved of the new interpretation of the amateur rule that a player was not an amateur who derived substantial compensation from the writing of newspaper articles, has made it just as clear that Tilden will have to quit playing if he wants to write. Tilden thought an exception might be made of his case. He maintained that he had been engaged in the newspaper business before he became a tennis champion, and that the newspaper profession was his accepted vocation. The executive committee of the association, however, thought differently, and told Tilden that he would get no place with an appeal against the rule.

It is obvious from the sincerity of his statements that Tilden means to quit tennis and continue his literary work. He claims that he would rather be a writer than a tennis player. It is quite apparent that he is not fishing for compliments from the public, or seeking sympathy, when he announces that he is going to retire.

The tennis association, having made the rule, must stick to it and, if it refuses to step back, Tilden will have to step out. It will be a tremendous loss not only to the United States, but to all tennis if Tilden does have to quit and it will be a loss that is entirely unnecessary and inexcusable.

The little group of idealists and purists who are now running tennis in the United States took the most radical means of dealing with a problem that was the least dangerous to the game. The penalty in this case is no more in proportion to the offense than banishment or life imprisonment would be for a violation of the criminal code that attended spitting on the sidewalk. Just because he desired to make a living out of a profession for which he is adequately qualified, Tilden must give up a game that put the tennis association where it is.

The association at the present time is in a prosperous condition and it is flourishing. It has respect and prestige. When it rules, it means something. The association is in its present condition because the United States dominates the world of tennis. It has the world's greatest players in Tilden and Johnston and it holds the Davis cup.

The money received from the Davis Cup contests has made the association what it is, and Tilden had a major share in bringing the Davis Cup contests back to this country. Tilden owes nothing to tennis but what health he has gotten out of it, but American tennis owes everything to Tilden.

Tilden is anything but a sap. He is a very intelligent man, a good writer, a clever amateur dramatist, an actor of more than ordinary ability and an all-around scholar. It seems to be unfortunate, at least, that he must be penalized because he is a good tennis player.

UNUSUALLY CLOSE BASKETBALL GAMES FEATURED BIG TEN

Basketball competition has been exceptionally keen in the western conference this season. Close scores, last-minute victories, and even overtime periods have been the general order.

Michigan, especially, has waded through a tough list of battles. It won six games and lost as many. But in getting an even break, the Wolverines were forced to fight to the last ditch to hang a .500 average.

The Maize and Blue, in nine of its 12 games, found the final score in doubt practically up until the last whistle. Of these nine frays, five were victories. In four the verdict was by a scant one-point margin; two others were by two points, and one each by three, four and five points.

Another thing—Michigan, in the above-mentioned nine contests, scored 214 points, which was the same total that the opposition accrued. Among the other big ten schools spirited battles were likewise the big noise. Ohio State was in several tough encounters, as were also Chicago, Indiana, Illinois, Purdue and so on.

One of the hardest fought tilts was that between Illinois and Northwestern. It went three overtime sessions, Illinois finally winning 36 to 35. That took the cake! Incidentally, it was a tough one for the Purple to drop. It was the closest it came to a big ten victory this season.

ROCKNE SIGNS UP WITH NOTRE DAME

South Bend, Ind., March 27.—Knut Rockne, Notre Dame football coach, has signed a 10-year contract with the local Catholic institution.

Iowa university sought Rockne to head up athletics at the Hawkeye university. It is alleged he had discussed with the Iowa authorities going there in one more year when his contract would be completed.

The statement was issued by Pres. Matthew Walsh of Notre Dame.

G. C. BERGDOLL NOT ON BOAT TRAIN

(By United Press)

He could, of course, board the vessel at Cuxhaven.

GIBBONS MAY BOX CARPENTIER AT MICHIGAN CITY

Chicago, March 27.—Now that articles have been signed and forfeits posted for a 10-round bout between Georges Carpentier and Tommy Gibbons, Floyd Fitzsimmons, promoter, will determine whether the fight is to be staged at Michigan City, Ind., or Benton Harbor, Mich.

Fitzsimmons wants to put on the fight in his open air arena in Michigan City, but Gov. McCray of Indiana may not permit it.

The articles give Carpentier a flat guarantee of $70,000 with a privilege of 25 per cent of the gate. An advance of $5,000 in training expenses already has been given the Frenchman.

Gibbons will receive 30 per cent of the gross receipts. Fitzsimmons posted $10,000 to guarantee the fight will be held. If it is not held Carpentier gets the $10,000.

Jack Curley, representing Carpentier, and Eddie Kane, manager of Gibbons, posted $5,000 each for the appearance of their scrappers.

Floyd Fitzsimmons announced that the arena he has built at Michigan City would be enlarged to hold several thousand persons additional to the 27,000 it originally was built for.

Statistics show that the United States produced 8,638 books in 1922, of which 758 were fiction, not including politics.

Marriage Kept Secret for Thirty-Seven Years

The secret of a wedding which took place 37 years ago has been revealed since the death at his home in South Shields, England, of Cleveland Masterman, a cousin of the bishop suffragan of Plymouth.

Masterman's will was proved recently. He left an estate of the gross value of more than $650,000.

Among the bequests was one of $75,000 in trust for life, his wife and furniture and the income from two houses to his housekeeper, Mrs. Martha Mary Ann Eroom. It has now become known that "Mrs. Broom" was actually Masterman's wife, says the London Mail.

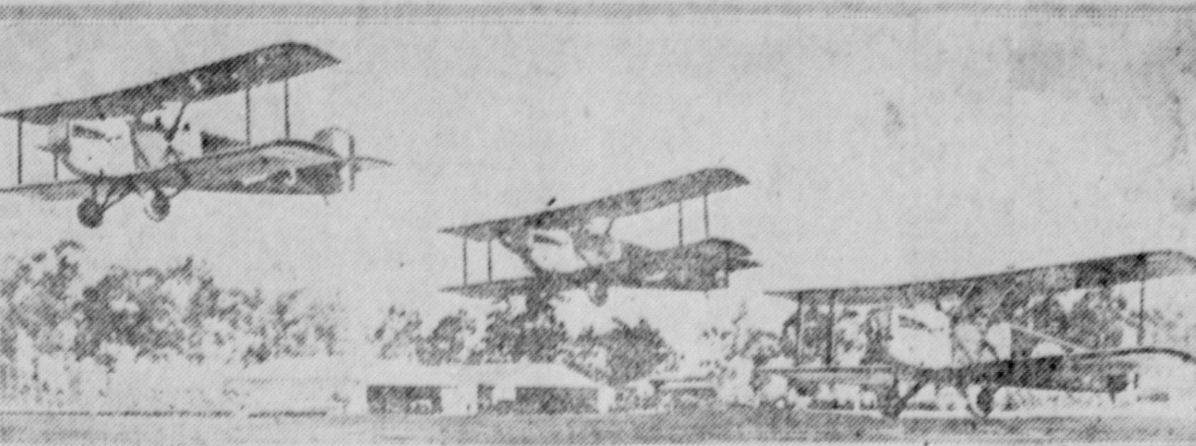

The marriage took place at the Carlisle register office May 4, 1886. Mrs. Masterman always called herself Mrs. Broom and Mr. Masterman always referred to her as his housekeeper. The marriage was a very happy one.

Of late years only one other living person has been in the secret, Mrs. Masterman's niece, Annie Rebecca Turner, who was one of the witnesses at the wedding.

Masterman was eighty-two years old when he died and his wife is eighty.

ARMY AIR CRUISER STARTING ON FLIGHT AROUND WORLD

This photograph shows three of the planes hopping off at Clover Field, Santa Monica, Cal., on the first lap of the Army Air Service's around-the-world flight. The fourth plane of the squadron, unable to start with them because of belated delivery by the manufacturer, joined them at Seattle, Wash., where the land gear was changed, to pontoons for the long beat along the Alaskan coast.

NEW WORLD'S CHAMPION, ABE GOLDSTEIN, WHO WON TITLE FROM JOE LYNCH

Little Abraham Goldstein is the king of the bantam weights by virtue of knocking the crown off the wobbling head of Joe Lynch in a 15-round bout in New York which attracted a great throng of fans to Madison Square Garden. The majority expected to see Joe retain his title but Abe began to pile up points in the very first round and only once did the former title holder have him in trouble.

Charm and Comedy in "The Love Piker"

The latest picture in which Anita Stewart appears is the Cosmopolitan production, "The Love Piker," which will be the offering at the New Park tonight and Friday. This picture has an appeal that is bound to put it in the class of the season's most popular photoplays. It is a romantic love story with deep heart interest and abounds in pathos and comedy. It has a society background, but with a number of slum sequences for contrast. The situations are dramatic and filled with thrills, while the settings are ornate and beautiful.

Miss Stewart is one of the most popular of feminine screen stars and has many notable productions to her credit. She was starred by Vitagraph for a number of years and recently has made pictures for Louis Mayer and for First National. "The Love Piker" is her first picture for the Cosmopolitan Pictures Corporation and it is being distributed by Goldwyn-Cosmopolitan.

"Bringing Up Father" at New Park Thursday, April 3rd

The announcement is made that a return engagement of Geo. McManus' cartoon musical comedy will play at the New Park Theatre Thursday, April 3rd. This is the same company that made such a favorable impression here last fall.

The company, since playing here, has made a tour of the Pacific coast, where it has met with instantaneous success, playing long runs in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle. There will be several new faces in the cast, notably Mai Honeyman, who was recruited from the Civic Opera Company of San Francisco, and who will appear this summer in the new Ziegfeld Follies at the New Amsterdam Theatre in New York; also many new novelties have been added, as well as a number of exuberantly funny scenes, as well as songs and musical numbers, and twelve sun-kissed beauties of Southern California.

GRANDMA USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and lustrant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Advt.

TILDEN WILL QUIT TENNIS TO WRITE

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, March 27.—William T. Tilden, world's greatest tennis player, has made it clear that he will retire from the game next year, if he has to choose between playing and writing.

The United States Lawn Tennis association, which approved of the new interpretation of the amateur rule that a player was not an amateur who derived substantial compensation from the writing of newspaper articles, has made it just as clear that Tilden will have to quit playing if he wants to write.

Tilden thought an exception might be made of his case. He maintained that he had been engaged in the newspaper business before he became a tennis champion, and that the newspaper profession was his accepted vocation. The executive committee of the association, however, thought differently, and told Tilden that he would get no place with an appeal against the rule.

It is obvious from the sincerity of his statements that Tilden means to quit tennis and continue his literary work. He claims that he would rather be a writer than a tennis player. It is quite apparent that he is not fishing for compliments from the public, or seeking sympathy, when he announces that he is going to retire.

The tennis association, having made the rule, must stick to it and, if it refuses to step back, Tilden will have to step out. It will be a tremendous loss not only to the United States, but to all tennis if Tilden does have to quit and it will be a loss that is entirely unnecessary and inexcusable.

The little group of idealists and purists who are now running tennis in the United States took the most radical means of dealing with a problem that was the least dangerous to the game. The penalty in this case is no more in proportion to the offense than banishment or life imprisonment would be for a violation of the criminal code that attended spitting on the sidewalk. Just because he desired to make a living out of a profession for which he is adequately qualified, Tilden must give up a game that put the tennis association where it is.

The association at the present time is in a prosperous condition and it is flourishing. It has respect and prestige. When it rules, it means something. The association is in its present condition because the United States dominates the world of tennis. It has the world's greatest players in Tilden and Johnston and it holds the Davis cup.

The money received from the Davis Cup contests has made the association what it is, and Tilden had a major share in bringing the Davis Cup contests back to this country. Tilden owes nothing to tennis but what health he has gotten out of it, but American tennis owes everything to Tilden.

Tilden is anything but a sap. He is a very intelligent man, a good writer, a clever amateur dramatist, an actor of more than ordinary ability and an all-around scholar. It seems to be unfortunate, at least, that he must be penalized because he is a good tennis player.

UNUSUALLY CLOSE BASKETBALL GAMES FEATURED BIG TEN

Basketball competition has been exceptionally keen in the western conference this season. Close scores, last-minute victories, and even overtime periods have been the general order.

Michigan, especially, has waded through a tough list of battles. It won six games and lost as many. But in getting an even break, the Wolverines were forced to fight to the last ditch to hang a .500 average.

The Maize and Blue, in nine of its 12 games, found the final score in doubt practically up until the last whistle. Of these nine frays, five were victories. In four the verdict was by a scant one-point margin; two others were by two points, and one each by three, four and five points.

Another thing—Michigan, in the above-mentioned nine contests, scored 214 points, which was the same total that the opposition accrued.

Among the other big ten schools spirited battles were likewise the big noise. Ohio State was in several tough encounters, as were also Chicago, Indiana, Illinois, Purdue and so on.

One of the hardest fought tilts was that between Illinois and Northwestern. It went three overtime sessions, Illinois finally winning 36 to 35. That took the cake! Incidentally, it was a tough one for the Purple to drop. It was the closest it came to a big ten victory this season.

ROCKNE SIGNS UP WITH NOTRE DAME

South Bend, Ind., March 27.—Knute Rockne, Notre Dame football coach, has signed a 10-year contract with the local Catholic institution.

The statement was issued by Pres. Matthew Walsh of Notre Dame.
